Civilization advances by extending the number of important operations which we can perform without thinking of them.

A photograph of a field of sunflowers in the foreground, with several tall sunflowers prominently displayed. In the background, a series of power lines stretch across the horizon under a dramatic sky filled with large, white and orange-tinted clouds. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a warm, golden glow. The overall scene is a blend of nature and human infrastructure.

A photograph of a cemetery at night. Warm, yellow string lights are draped over the branches of trees and around tombstones, creating a soft, glowing atmosphere. The tombstones are visible in the foreground and middle ground, and the ground is covered with fallen leaves.
